Re: Year Round Use of Washington Secondary Bike Path

31 January, 2025

Director Peter Alviti, Jr;

Our bike paths are a wonderful resource and I applaud how well they are maintained most of the year. However when snow and ice form they are rendered unusable for many of us, especially older folks.

Why can't plows take a final run down the bike paths once the roads are cleared of snow and ice? Would the additional time (cost) be that much more given the benefit to us all?

Thank you for your attention in this matter.
